

WEST AFRICA NETWORK FOR PEACEBUILDING

QUARTERLY HIGHLIGHTS OF ACTIVITIES

JANUARY - MARCH, 2011

DEMOCRATIC TRANSITIONS IN WEST AFRICA: A YEAR OF ELECTIONS

WANEP is a leading Regional Peacebuilding organization founded in 1998 in response to civil wars that plagued West Africa in the late 1980s. We place special focus on collaborative approach, working alongside major actors, particularly governments, intergovernmental bodies and women in a bid to establish a platform for dialogue, experience sharing and learning, thereby complementing efforts at ensuring sustainable peace and development.

HIGHLIGHTS OF PEACE AND SECURITY IN WEST AFRICA

The first quarter of 2011 saw the organization of three relatively peaceful elections: presidential in Benin, Niger and legislative elections Cape Verde, amidst the degenerating security and humanitarian situation in Cote d'Ivoire due to the post-electoral crisis following the 28 November, 2010 run-off.

In the following quarters of 2011, Nigeria, Cape Verde, Liberia and Gambia will organize their presidential elections. The West Africa sub-region is at present grappling with the challenges of organizing credible and peaceful elections. Indeed, democratic transitions are increasing the risk for political instability in many countries in West Africa.

Nigerians braced themselves for a possible post-election violence as polling day drew closer. The contest of the election would be between the incumbent President Goodluck Jonathan and the former military ruler, Muhamadu Buhari.

In Liberia, the political atmosphere is heating up as the country prepares for presidential elections In October 2011.

In 2010, Guinea narrowly escaped a post-election violence of the scale of Cote d'Ivoire. The post-elections crisis in Cote d'Ivoire saw no signs of abetting, leaving the use of force as the only option. The country is bordering on the edge of a civil war. Various diplomatic efforts at the level of ECOWAS and the AU and the International Community as well as CSOs, to talk President Gbagbo into handing over power to the internationally-recognized winner of the presidential elections, Mr. Alassane Dramane Ouattara, have failed.

Alongside the political tension in Cote d'Ivoire, neighbouring Burkina Faso grappled with violent protests since February following the death of a student in the hands of security agencies after being abducted. The protests had led to closure of schools at all the levels. The security forces had also gone on protest to demand better conditions of service.

WANEP REGIONAL SECRETARIAT ACTIVITIES

General Assembly

WANEP organized its General Assembly in Accra from effective mechanism for sustaining the Africa Year of Peace and Security". The 2011 General Assembly brought together the head of each of the 15 national networks of WANEP across West Africa. Issues relating to governance, accountability and future of the networks were addressed.

The Coordination meeting brought together 45 participants from the 15 West African countries representing the ECOWAS Early Warning Department (EWD), Government and CSOs Focal Points as well as key WANEP regional secretariat staff. The ECOWAS team was led by the Acting Director of EWD, Ms. Florence Iheme, and the Executive Director of WANEP, Mr. Emmanuel Bombande led the CSOs delegates. The meeting reviewed the updated version of the reporting format and a training was conducted on the new features of the ECOWARN systems.

Agro-Pastoral Conflict Consultation

Farmer-pastoralist conflict across West Africa, particularly the Sahel region has become intractable. WANEP organized a 2 day consultative workshop in Burkina Faso on February 22-23 2011 with the support of the Finland Government, bringing together experts, conflict managers and representatives of farmers and pastoralists from Ghana, Togo, Nigeria, Cote d'Ivoire, Mali, and Niger. The workshop examined the factors contributing to the intractability of the agro-pastoralists conflicts and discussed issues and priorities for intervention to address the core issues.

The Jos Dialogue Process

Following the Dialogue Design Workshop in Abuja, WANEP in collaboration with the Institute for Peace and Conflict Resolution (IPCR) in Abuja, Nigeria and CEPAN with support from SIDA, organized a two (2) day Dialogue Meeting bringing together leaders of the aggrieved communities to start a dialogue process.

The leaders of the aggrieved communities committed themselves to the dialogue process and made recommendations towards addressing finding common ground towards a peaceful resolution of the conflict.

Elections Observation in Benin

WANEP was invited by ECOWAS to join its election observation mission for the March 13th Presidential elections in Benin. Five WANEP staff drawn from the regional secretariat, its Togo and Cote d'Ivoire offices took part in the mission. Voting was observed as peaceful, orderly and transparent.

Baseline Data Collection for the WARHD Project

Following the renewal of the West Africa Human Rights and Democratization (WAHRD) project sponsored by IBIS-West Africa for another five-year period (2010-2014), WANEP led the data collection exercise in Burkina Faso in March 2011 as part of a process to establish baseline information for the project implementation.

The baseline survey is expected to establish the current situation in relation to human rights, democratization and peacebuilding in Burkina Faso, Ghana, Liberia and Sierra Leone so as to be able to monitor and evaluate changes or results that could be attributed to WAHRD interventions.

Roundtable Discussion with Dr. Toshiya Hoshino –

Dr. Toshiya Hoshino, Professor at Osaka School of International Public Policy (OSIPP), Osaka University held a roundtable discussion on 3rd March 2011 at the regional office of WANEP at the request of the Japan Embassy in Ghana. Dr. Hoshino delivered a presentation on the topic

'Japan's Role in Human Security and Peacebuilding in West Africa' Present at the roundtable discussion were staff of WANEP, the Ghana Center for Democratic Development (CDD-Ghana) and the Foundation for Security and Development in Africa (FOSDA).

Support to National Networks

Through the SIDA grant, the Women in Peacebuilding (WIPNET) program received a boost. The program supported women in peacebuilding activities in Liberia, Cote d'Ivoire, Sierra Leone and Togo. The various activities conducted at national level included the commemoration of the International Women's Day in Cote d'Ivoire, the Gambia and Liberia. Women in Cote d'Ivoire focused on sensitizing the population in the hot spots of the crisis on and how women can be involved in the peace process in the Ivorian crisis.

Peace Education Program

Through the SIDA grant, the peace education programs in Nigeria, Sierra Leone, Ghana, Togo and Cote d'Ivoire received support. In Nigeria, the support enabled the network to review its existing peace education program in Enugu, South East Nigeria and conduct a refresher training for teachers in the 12 schools of the pilot program. In Sierra Leone, a review meeting and refresher training was organized for selected pupils and teachers from the Western and Eastern regions. The training in Ghana drew participants from Community Youth and women leaders from the conflict zone in Dagbon in the Northern region to promote non-violence strategies for conflict resolution as the region battles with restoring lasting peace in that part of Ghana. Togo undertook a month-long peace education campaign on non-violence in primary schools in the Casablanca suburb of Lomé under a project entitled "the Seeds of Peace of Casablanca".

WANEP-CAPE VERDE

WANEP-Cape Verde was officially launched in October 2010 at the instance of its constitutive general assembly that was organized in Praia. A five-member Board of Directors was inaugurated and a Coordinator recruited to manage the operational affairs of the National Secretariat. In view of addressing administrative and programmatic issues of WANEP-Cape Verde, the board of directors had their first statutory meeting on January 15th. As outcomes, the meeting designated the board chair and the NNC as delegates to WANEP General Assembly and decided on the priority areas to focus on in terms of addressing peace and security matters in the country. Directives were given to the secretariat to develop programmes and or projects in three thematic areas: 1) on narcotic drugs and the proliferation of small arms 2) youth delinquency and 3) violence against women. The priority areas were selected based on the priorities that were identified as risk factors in a conflict mapping exercise carried out in May 2010.

During the quarter under review the National Network Coordinator of WANEP-Cape Verde, Mrs. Judite Medina and the Chair of the Board of Directors, Mrs. Lourença Tavares attended the WANEP biennial general assembly in Accra, Ghana from January 24th – 28th. Their participation made it possible for them to understand WANEP better; its philosophy, operational structure through the presentations of regional and national reports and experience sharing of other networks.

On February 16th WANEP-CV submitted all relevant documents and an application to be registered as a network and received its registration certificate on the same day. This has legitimized its existence and will facilitate access to local funds for its activities. An office has been rented and a bank account opened to facilitate financial transactions safely.

The National Network Coordinator attended a training of trainers from February 11th to March 5th on the theme gender and family organized by the Centre for Investigation and Training in Gender and Family and the University of Cape Verde (CIGEF/UNICV) in partnership with the Institute for Gender Equality and Equity of Cape Verde (ICIEG). The training deepened the understanding of participants on the notion and concept of gender, its history and stereotypes and the consequences of gender based violence.

The briefing sessions were meant to inform and solicit the support of these key partners for the successful implementation of the EU/NSA project.

Baseline Study

As part of the activities implemented under the EU/NSA project, a consultancy was negotiated and signed to undertake a baseline study. The baseline seeks to establish the capacity gaps and training needs of the three local government authorities and their level of awareness regarding the Local Government Act as well as conflict issues in the communities. The study will span a month to be followed by a validation workshop. The final report will serve as a baseline for project implementation phase.

WANEP-GHANA

Publication of Emergency Numbers

Under the Ghana Alert Project (GAP), a number of activities were implemented. They included the publication of toll free lines, short codes and hotlines for the purpose of getting the general public to report issues that threaten peace and human security. This was done in the daily graphic and on Ghana Television (GTV). The first publication was on the 29th of December 2010 and the second publication in January 2011. The last publication for the quarter appeared on the 2nd of March edition of the Daily Graphic. An average of 3 people called in a day to find out more information about how the system operates.

Radio Discussions

As part of the activities of GAP Community Project, radio discussions were held in all the 5 regions that WANEP-Ghana was operating. Topics discussed were on security threats gathered by the Early Warning System. Topics included the need for peace and calm during the festive seasons (the Bugum festival in Dagbon), increasing rate of road accidents and fire outbreaks, possession and use of small arms. The public were made to phone-in to contribute and also for clarifications. The discussions were held in local languages: Kusaal, Gurune, Wale, Dagaare ,Twi, Ewe, Dagbanli, and Gonja.

Executive Committee Meeting

An Executive Committee meeting was held on the 3rd to 5th February 2011 at Arewa Sunshine Hotel in Tamale. Those present were the Chairman, Vice Chairman, and two other members, and the National Network Coordinator who is the secretary to the EC. Discussions centred on the EC previous meeting follow ups, the 2010 Annual report that highlighted the activities implemented in 2010, the previous EGM Action Points in preparation towards the 2011 AGM etc. Other discussions focused on the need for a strategic plan to guide the organization and the proposed amendments to the WANEP-GHANA constitution for harmonization with that of WANEP Regional as well as the election of new EC.

INGO forum in Tamale

In order to improve the usage of the Early Warning System a forum was organized for INGO's and some CSO's on the operations of the EWS and their inputs on how the system can be made to serve its purpose. The forum was held on the 1st of March 2011 at Radach Memorial Centre with 20 INGOs, CSOs and the media under the theme "strengthening GHANAWARN: a collaborative effort".

WANEP-GHANA delivered a presentation on the topic "GHANAWARN and the realization of SADA objectives" at the 2011 Harmattan School Series under the theme "bridging the development gap between southern and the northern Ghana: the prospects and challenges of the Savannah Accelerated Development Authority (SADA)". The presentation was to showcase WANEP Ghana and its early warning system in reducing violent conflicts in the north with a view to enhance development in the Northern part of Ghana.

WANEP-GUINEA

The key highlight for WANEP-Guinea in this quarter is the restructuring process that was started in January 2011. This was to implement the decision of the Regional Board of Directors of WANEP and the General Assembly to handover the running of the affairs of WANEP-Guinea to the Regional Secretariat. The decision further clarified the transformative directives to include the recruitment of a new National Network Coordinator, organization of a General Assembly and with it the election of a new board. The call for application for the recruitment of the NNC started in March and was posted on strategic locations and offices of national and international NGOs in Guinea, UN agencies and other public vantage points. The preparation is also well advanced to organize the general assembly alongside the recruitment in the next quarter.

However, In order to sustain partnerships with WANEP-Guinea's strategic partners at national level, the implementation of the UNDP project on dialogue and reconciliation continued and efforts are underway to develop further projects with UNDP while the process of renewal of the 'open eyes for democracy' project funded by the US Department of States through CRS-Guinea made a headway and is expected to commence in the second quarter.
