

The United Nations Security Council Resolution \(UNSCR\) 1325 passed on October 15, 2000 is a landmark resolution, which specifically addresses women's effective and systematic participation in conflict resolution and peace building process. The Resolution serves as the international standard to the discussion of gender. Towards ensuring effective implementation of the Resolution,